

November 17, 1997

Alex Judd
Quantime, Ltd.
65 - 67 Maygrove Road

London, UK NW6 2EG

Dear Alex:

As you know, Internet Explorer 4.0 is now a released product. What you may not know is that as of today it is shipping in 19 languages! The bug reports you submitted, the issues you brought to the beta newsgroups, and the time you contributed to testing helped make it possible for us to ship an outstanding new version of Internet Explorer.

To express our thanks to you, one of our best IE 4.0 beta sites, enclosed is the retail version of Internet Explorer 4.0 Plus. Please accept it as a token of our thanks and appreciation for all your efforts.

In addition, your receipt of this package confirms your good standing as an Internet Explorer beta site based on your active participation in the IE 4.0 beta program. While we cannot guarantee your participation in any beta program, your current standing makes you eligible for addition to future IE beta programs and brings with it the opportunity for priority consideration as a potential IE beta site.

On behalf of the Microsoft Internet Explorer 4.0 Product Team, I would like to again say thank you and I hope we have the opportunity to work with you again on another Internet Explorer beta.

Sincerely,

Christin Overton

Internet Explorer Product Team
Microsoft Corporation